Program Description

Our Master of Engineering (MEng) program prepares its graduates for careers in technical and leadership positions within a variety of engineering fields. It gives you the opportunity to take world-class graduate courses from the Berkeley faculty on technical topics as well as immerse yourself in the world of engineering leadership in Silicon Valley. Through this curriculum, you will gain skills in interdisciplinary teamwork, project management, negotiations, entrepreneurship, intellectual property, and much more. The team capstone project analyzes and addresses an industry challenge to integrate the leadership curriculum with your technical coursework.

1. Prepare your required materials. Details can be found on the Graduate Division website.

   • GRE Scores - All three sections of the GRE General Test are required. Take the exam between June 2011 and December 2015. Send scores electronically to Institution Code 4833.

   • Proof of English Proficiency - If your previous degree is from a non-English speaking university, then you need to take the TOEFL or IELTS exam. Take the exam between June 2014 and December 2015. Send scores electronically to Institution Code 4833.

   • Statement of Purpose - Why are you applying for this program? What will you do during this degree program? What do you want to do after and how will this help you? [Further tips].

   • Personal History Statement - What from your past made you decide to go into this field? And how will your personal history help you succeed in this program and your future goals?

   • 3 Letters of Recommendation - Mixture of academic and industry letters is ideal. They should include details about your goals, accomplishments, technical and leadership skills, academic work, etc. We suggest to give your recommenders a few weeks to write your letters and upload them as PDFs through the link (provided from your online application).

   • Unofficial Transcripts - Please do not mail transcripts. Simply upload unofficial transcripts as PDFs through the online application. Transcripts not in English or Spanish must be translated prior to uploading to the application.

   • GPA - If you attended a university outside of the USA, please leave the GPA section blank.

2. Complete the online application

   • Start your application through this [link] and fill in each relevant page.

   • Upload the materials above, and send the recommender links several weeks prior to the application deadline to give your recommenders time to submit their letters by February 3.

   • Enter your exam scores into the application. It is fine for us to receive your official score reports electronically after the deadline as long as we have your scores in the application.

3. Pay the application fee ([waivers available]).

4. Submit your online application before the deadline of January 6, 2016, 11:59pm Pacific time.
